

Jeanne M. Elliott, ACP
At Large Director

Jeanne Elliott's passion is to help people grow and improve their position both in and out of their workplace as they honor the contributions others bring to the workspace.

She is employed as the Director of Culture and Compliance at Christy Industrial Holdings, the management company for the Christy family of companies. Her work involves driving culture through Christy programs and communication and on the compliance side through work on contracts, regulatory compliance, HR employment issues, and transactional work. In this role, she works with attorneys from numerous law firms and participates in their selection for hire. She reports to and works closely with the CFO, CEO, and corporate management for the Christy companies. She has an ongoing role as secretary for the Corporate Advisory Board. Her work duties vary greatly but include HR legal and employee issues, import/export, regulatory compliance, and less typical paralegal duties such as leadership training and conferences.

She has an AA in legal studies and a BA in communication with a minor in philosophy. In 2013, Jeanne received her Certified Paralegal (CP) from NALA, followed by her ACP a few years later. In the St. Louis area, she served on the St. Louis Community College Advisory Committee for the Legal Program and on the Board of the St. Louis Paralegal Association from 2008-2016, holding various committee and board positions, including president and NALA Liaison. Jeanne then accepted a position on NALA's Continuing Education Council (CEC) from 2016-2020, which was a natural outgrowth of her interest in providing quality continuing education to the paralegal community. She served on the committee and then filled the CEC chair role on the NALA Board of Directors for two years. The CEC produces NALA's magazine and selects topics and speakers for NALA conferences. This work has been a highlight of Jeanne's career. She has additional board experience with the AME Consortium St. Louis Board and on the inaugural Women in Manufacturing Missouri Chapter.
